Applications

SEFAR MEDITEX HPL NC

Hydrophilic fabrics for diagnostic applications

SEFAR MEDITEX HPL NC adds a hydrophilic surface to polyester and polyamide fabrics. This treatment allows for unrivaled wicking and spreading properties. Liquids flow through at a quicker rate. Furthermore, this fabric has an excellent shelf life.

Suitable applications for this line include diagnostics and other fluid-management applications.

SEFAR MEDITEX KNT

Knitted multifilament fabrics for medical applications

The need in some medical applications for structural elasticity and softness triggered the development of biocompatible knitted fabric in the SEFAR MEDITEX KNT product line. Furthermore, these materials have a different touch from monofilament fabrics together with a new visual effect.

SEFAR MEDITEX ACC

Multilayer combination of various properties

The unique multi-layer products of the SEFAR MEDITEX ACC line are manufactured by bonding different media. This bonding of complementary media allows different media properties to be combined in one material.

SEFAR MEDITEX COL

Medical colored fabrics

The SEFAR MEDITEX COL product line comprises healthcare fabrics that are colored to meet the requirements of specific applications. Benefits of colored fabrics include corporate identity color, improved process automation, better identification of filter residues, and differentiation of fabrics by color.

SEFAR MEDITEX PORE

Membrane based solutions for venting and micro particle filtration

The SEFAR MEDITEX PORE range includes a wide selection of single or multilayer membrane for applications such as transducer protection, blood catcher, spiking and transfer devices, intravenous infusion sets, pharmaceutical containers, nasal and eye spray containers.

Sefar offers the widest available selection of materials in many different weave types and fabrications.

Your Benefits depending on the product

The main advantages of Sefar products include:

- Precise fabric dimensions
 - Homogeneous material properties
 - Exceptional lot-to-lot consistency
 - Defined surface characteristics
 - High throughput rates
 - Membranes with outranging airflow and hydrohead
 - Excellent particle retention efficiencies
 - Unrivalled two-dimensional stability
 - Superior sterilization stability
 - Non-shedding due to monofilament yarn (mesh)
 - High wicking rates due to specific weave constructions
 - High wettability due to hydrophilic surface coatings
 - Processed on a dedicated medical line
